

FREE TRAINING: SAFE AND SUPPORTIVE SOCIAL MEDIA USE IN THE AFTERMATH OF A SUICIDE

We have a limited number of fully-funded places available on upcoming webinars about safe and supportive social media use in the aftermath of a suicide. The training is designed and delivered by Dr Jo Bell and Dr Chris Westoby from the University of Hull. Sessions are suitable for anyone affected by suicide, but are particularly impactful for professionals, policymakers and practitioners who work in services with a role in responding in the aftermath of a suspected suicide and supporting those affected by suicide.

BENEFITS OF TAKING PART

Attendees will take away new evidence-based knowledge of:

- Harmful and protective effects of social media use in the aftermath of a suicide
- How social media use can be harnessed to manage trauma, alleviate grief and reach those who need support
- Guidance and recommendations for prevention policy and practice (including developing media strategies)

Attendees will come away with recommendations and guidance for policy and practice on how to mitigate against harmful effects and promote positive effects of social media use following a suicide.
